Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1, 2, 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by JP- U 64-40548 cited in the IDS filed on 10/20/05 or JP_U 5-68650 cited in the IDS filed on 07/21/04.

As to claim 1, referring to Figs. 1 and 2, JP-U 64-40548 or JP-U 5-68650 discloses a transfer film cassette to be attached to a printer provided with an optical sensor (8) , comprising: a transfer film (2) having a mark to be detected by said optical sensor, and a case (1) having a surface (7) which causes diffuse reflection at an opposed position to said optical sensor with said transfer film (2) interposed when being attached to said printer.

As to claim 2, as seen in Fig. 2, the optical sensor (8) detects a light that is reflected by the surface (7) and passes through the transfer film (2).

As to claim 3, as seen in Fig. 1, the supply spool is (3) and the take-up spool is (4).

4. Claims 1, 2, 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Kyogoku et al. (JP 11-240219 cited in the IDS filed on 12/13/2005).

As to claim 1, referring to Figs. 1 and 2, Kyogoku et al. discloses a transfer film cassette to be attached to a printer provided with an optical sensor (7) , comprising: a transfer film (1) having a mark to be detected by said optical sensor, and a case (2) having a surface (6) which causes diffuse reflection at an opposed position to said optical sensor with said transfer film (1) interposed when being attached to said printer.

As to claim 2, as seen in Fig. 2, the optical sensor (7) detects a light that is reflected by the surface (6) and passes through the transfer film (1).

As to claim 3, as seen in Fig.1, the supply spool is (3) and the take-up spool is (4).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over JP_U 64-40548 cited in the IDS filed on 10/20/05 , JP_U 5-68650 cited in the IDS filed on 07/21/04, or Kyogoku et al. (JP 11-240219 cited in the IDS filed on 12/13/2005) in view of Hadley (US Patent 6010259) or Amano (US Patent 5144331).

JP_U 64-40548 cited in the IDS filed on 10/20/05 , JP_U 5-68650 cited in the IDS filed on 07/21/04, or Kyogoku et al. (JP 11-240219 cited in the IDS filed on 12/13/2005) discloses the claimed invention as explained in the rejection above except for the limitation "wherein a front of said mark in a conveying direction of said transfer film is transparent, and said mark is opaque" so as to make it possible to clearly identify changes in the amount of light reflected from the identifying marks.

Art Unit: 2861

Hadley or Amano discloses such limitation. See Figs. 2-3 and Col. 5, lines 58-65 of Hadley. See Fig. 1 and Col. 4, lines 45-68 of Amano.

Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide the color identification marks in the primary references with the characteristic taught by Hadley or Amano so as to make it possible to clearly identify changes in the amount of light reflected from the identifying marks.

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claim 5 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

8. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: Prior art of record do not teach or suggest that the diffuse reflecting surface is a rough surface. Thus, a reflectance ratio of the light at the reflecting surface is smaller than that of an evaporated film, a plating film or the like.

9. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Huan H. Tran whose telephone number is (571) 272-2261. The examiner can normally be reached on at work on T-F from 6:30 to 5.
